

Story : The Hidden Message in the Portrait

The Tale :-

In a small antique shop on the outskirts of Paris, a young investigator named Clara stumbled upon an old portrait of a 17th-century noble. The shopkeeper, a mysterious old man, hinted that the painting held a secret long forgotten by history. Clara, intrigued, took the portrait home and began examining it under different lights and angles.

As she observed the details, she noticed tiny imperfections in the paint strokes and strange patterns in the frame's carving. She recalled an old espionage technique where messages were hidden within images, visible only to those who knew where to look. Clara knew that she had to unveil the hidden message if she wanted to uncover the truth.

The Clues :-

- 1 .) "A small note was tucked behind the frame: 'Sometimes, the art of hiding is in plain sight.'"
- 2 .) "'Name' the Art of hiding."
